

HRchat Podcast

HRchat #163: Why an Engaged Workforce is the Foundation of Organizational Success w/ Gregory F Simpson, Agent In Engagement LLC

April 07, 2020 Season 1 Episode 163

SHOW NOTES

In this HRchat episode, we chat with Gregory F Simpson, Managing Director, Agent In Engagement LLC an employee experience consultancy focused on helping companies and their employees succeed.

Gregory believes that an engaged workforce is the foundation of organizational success and is on a mission to help companies and their employees succeed. He has created award-winning workplace experiences for people at all levels of Fortune 150 companies such as Accenture, State Farm Insurance Cos., Deutsche Bank, and Microsoft.

Gregory has previously been named on The Employee Engagement Awards #Engagement101 list of the top influencers & experts in the world of employee engagement.

This episode of the HRchat show is supported by Espresa, a firm helping to define and ignite the HR tech space to disrupt culture for good.

We do our best to ensure editorial objectivity. The views and ideas shared in this episode are entirely independent of our show sponsors. There is no relationship between the guest and companies advertising within the podcasts published by The HR Gazette or our partners.